NLCU Scholarship Program Awards Three Scholarship Recipients

(St. John's, NL): Newfoundland and Labrador Credit Union (NLCU) recognizes the contributions of graduating high school students, and the work they do in their communities by awarding three deserving students with scholarships valued at $3,000 each. Each year NLCU receives applications from phenomenal students from various high schools across the province with extensive community involvement, and an outstanding academic proficiency.

"It is clear that teachers in this province are cultivating in their students a sense of community involvement as an important component to bettering themselves and their education," says Glenn Bolger, NLCU COO. "By helping fund the next chapter of their education, we hope to encourage these qualities of good citizenship and co-operation well into the future.

All applicants must be: a member of NLCU, or a child of a member; be a graduate from the general academic program of provincial high school, be nominated by their principal, and be enrolled in an accredited post-secondary institution.

"NLCU recognizes that the growth and future of our province lies in our youth. By helping to build a bright future for the young people of our province, in turn we are ensuring a successful future for all Newfoundland and Labradorians," says Bolger.

The three scholarships are designed to reward students who are making recognizable community and academic achievements. Brianna George of Stephenville received The Outstanding School and Community Involvement Scholarship. Michael Pinsent of Grand Falls-Windsor was rewarded the Outstanding School and Community Involvement Scholarship in Memory of Owen Grimes (a previous NLCU Board Member), and Katie Brenton of Mount Pearl, was awarded the Brian F. McDonald Scholarship.
